

Shirt Collection

As the base of your winter outfit — literally the closest layer to your body — every man wants his shirt to be breathable, comfortable and appropriate, all at the same time.

Because deciding ‘what goes with what’ is probably the most challenging part of the dressing process, we recommend encouraging your customers to buy at least one shirt together with the rest of their outfit: no more morning guesswork when it comes to getting dressed! And because a shirt-swap alone can create a whole new look, two shirts are (of course) always better than one.

Catch a first glimpse of (y)our FW22 shirt additions on the following pages — sure-fire allies on even the coldest of days.

Update: the end of face masks

As pandemic restrictions have eased around the world, our face masks will no longer be available for order from July onwards.
